

About the Programme

This executive programme deals with some of the most challenging issues that are relevant to the study and practice of youth leadership and development. It examines some of the problems youth face and how solutions can be found for their problems. It also examines how youth may be empowered in their daily struggle to 'fit in' to particular behaviour patterns and how they can be counselled and guided to make positive choices. It examines youth influences and expectations and the responsibilities of the wider society in building sustainable leadership. It is an extremely useful course in the leadership and development of youth.

Objectives

- Critically examine youth leadership concepts and principles and their relevance in the 21st century;
- Identify and facilitate positive change in youth behaviour;
- Develop strategies on how the youth can withstand peer pressure;
